OFF TO BATTLE

Pokémon Stadium 2 is about more than just heated battles. The game explodes with hot extras like Minigames, Mystery Gifting and full access to your GB Pokémon games thanks to the N64 Transfer Pak. Get fired up like a Magby and uncover everything that Stadium 2 holds within its battle-scarred walls.

STEP INTO THE STADIUM

Pokémon Stadium 2 is compatible with Pokémon Gold, Silver, Red, Blue and Yellow for Game Boy. If you have a Transfer Pak, you can plug it into your N64 Controller and pop in one of your GB Pokémon games to upload your Pokédex data to Pokémon Stadium 2. Any of the Pokémon you've caught and trained on Game Boy will be able to enter the arena and battle it out in Stadium 2. And if you're using Gold or Silver, you'll be able to access and score a few Stadium 2 extras, too!

HOW TO PLAY

The long road to becoming a true Pokémon Master requires a good deal of discipline. The rules of Pokémon Stadium 2 are very specific and picky, and the battles they are used for will surely give your discipline—as well as your Pokémon—quite a workout.

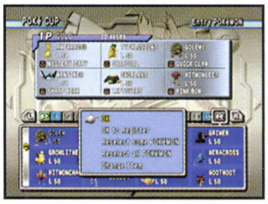
THE DO'S AND DON'TS OF BATTLE

To keep things fair, challenging and tricky, Pokémon Stadium 2 features plenty of sets of rules for its different competitions. Depending on the Cup and mode you choose, you'll have to follow a unique set of rules. Press the R Button when selecting a Cup to view the specific rules.

BASIC RULES

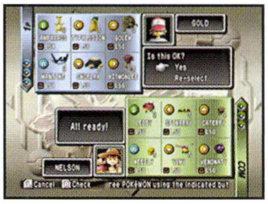
BUILD A TEAM OF SIX

Before you can enter a battle, you must assemble a team of six different Pokémon. Focus on variety when creating your team. A good mix of Pokémon types and types of attacks will prepare you for anything.



CHOOSE THREE FOR BATTLE

Of your six Pokémon, only three can enter a battle. Compare your team to your opponent's team, then pick your three entrants based on which types and attacks have the advantage.



ITEM RESTRICTIONS

Items are allowed in battle, and all of your Pokémon can hold one. The catch is that all of your Pokémon must hold a different item—no two Pokémon on your team can hold the same item.

SLEEP AND FREEZE

Only one Pokémon on your team can be put to sleep at a time. Also, if one of your Pokémon is frozen, none of your other team members can be frozen at the same time. You can, however, have one sleeping and one frozen Pokémon during battle.

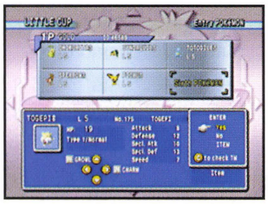
SELFDESTRUCT AND EXPLOSION

Certain moves won't work when you've battled down to your last active Pokémon. Perish Song and Destiny Bond will always fail, and you'll automatically lose if your last remaining Pokémon uses Selfdestruct or Explosion—even if it causes your opponent to faint.

CUP RULES

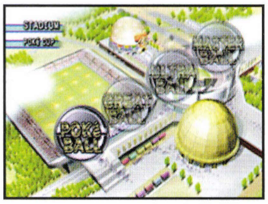
LITTLE CUP

Only level-5 Pokémon can enter the Little Cup. The competition is open only to completely unevolved Pokémon that can be hatched from Eggs and are capable of evolution.



POKé CUP

In the official Pokémon League tournament, you'll play through four increasingly difficult divisions of battle: Poké Ball, Great Ball, Ultra Ball and Master Ball. All competitions are open to Pokémon at levels 50 to 55 only.



PRIME CUP

Any Pokémon can enter the Prime Cup. The ultimate tournament, the Prime Cup features no level restrictions, so any Pokémon from level 1 to 100 can enter. All opposing Trainers will use level-100 Pokémon only.

CHALLENGE CUP

No outside teams are allowed in the Challenge Cup. Instead, you'll automatically be assigned one of the game's preselected teams. The competitions go down in four level classes—Poké Ball (level 30), Great Ball (level 45), Ultra Ball (level 60) and Master Ball (level 75).

GYM LEADER CASTLE

The Gym Leader Castle is open to Pokémon of all levels. Just keep in mind that your opponents will use at least a level-50 Pokémon or match your level if your Pokémon's level is higher than 50.

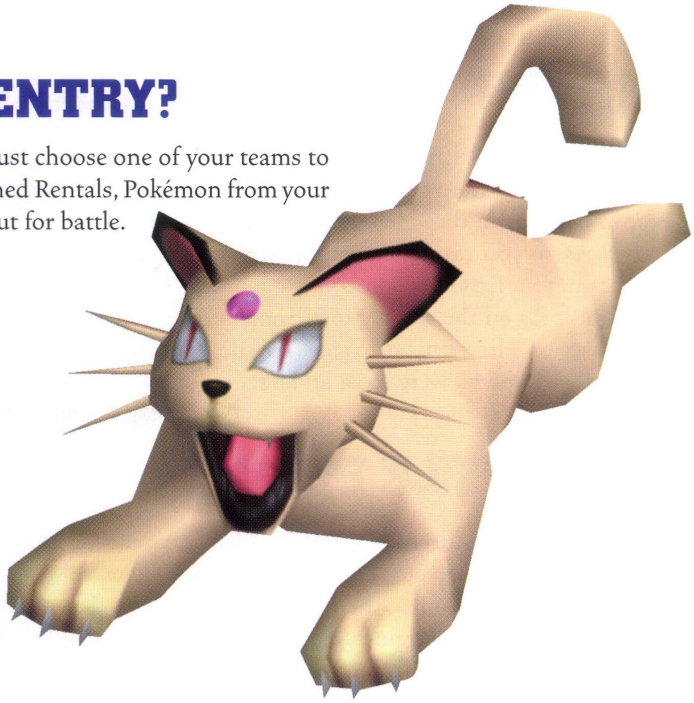
CHOOSE FROM WHICH ENTRY?

When you enter the Little, Poké or Prime Cup, you must choose one of your teams to enter into battle. You must assemble a team of pretrained Rentals, Pokémon from your personal GB Pokédex or a combination of them before setting out for battle.



REGISTERED POKéMON

You can register teams for each Cup or Gym, making entry quick and easy. Teams are saved as Registered Pokémon, and you can store up to 10 teams per Cup.

AND THEN THERE WERE THREE

There are six Pokémon on any given team, but you can select only three from that group for a specific battle. It's usually best to use a team that includes a variety of Pokémon with different attacks so you can tailor your selections based on your opponent's team. Your first selection is very important—it will be the Pokémon that leads off the battle. Most Trainers will select a fast Pokémon, such as an Electric-type, to start a battle, or perhaps a type that would prove impervious to most attacks.

Each of the six Pokémon on your team will be assigned a button on your Controller during the selection process, so you can keep your picks secret.

THE BATTLE BEGINS

Once you have picked three Pokémon for a battle, your first pick will enter the stadium, followed by your opponent's first pick. If you think your Pokémon is a good match for its opponent, then you should select its first attack. If you think your Pokémon is extremely vulnerable to its opponent's attacks, then you should select another Pokémon or quit the battle.

CHANGE POKéMON, ATTACK OR RUN

You won't know exactly which Pokémon you'll face until the battle begins. Your lead-off Pokémon may be at a disadvantage that will be difficult to overcome. For example, you may want to pull your Electric-type if your opponent puts a Ground-type into the battle. In most cases, however, you'll probably want to attack. Your first move often sets the tone for the entire battle, so you should formulate a strategy before you act.

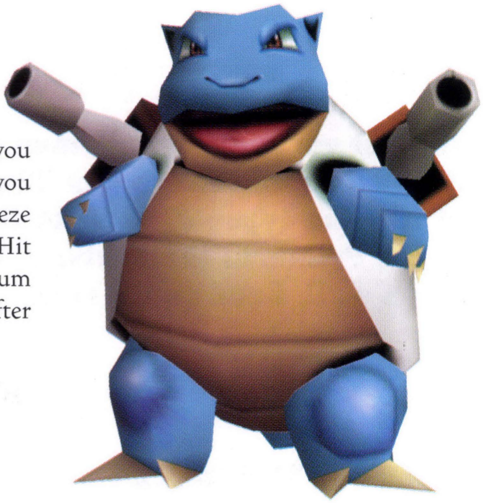
RUN

You can run from the battle at the start of your turn by pressing the Start Button. Simply confirm that you want to quit the game to leave the battle. You will automatically lose the battle.

READY TO FIGHT?

Assuming you don't run from the battle, you'll need to fight with your opponent until you win or lose. If you've chosen your Pokémon wisely and used the most effective lead-off Pokémon available, you should have at least a fighting chance against whatever opponent you'll face. Check the next page to learn more about battles.

BATTLE BASICS



Once a battle has begun, you'll need to keep your Pokémon healthy as you try to eliminate your opponent's Pokémon. You'll have an advantage if you can attack first, particularly if you can knock out an opponent with a single hit, freeze it, paralyze it or put it to sleep. A Pokémon can remain in the battle as long as it has Hit Points (HP). When all of its HP is gone, it faints and must be removed from the stadium floor. You'll need to put in another Pokémon to continue the battle. A battle is over after one of the opposing Trainers either loses all of his or her Pokémon or quits.

FIRST AND SECOND STRIKE

There are several factors that determine which Pokémon will attack first. If neither Trainer changes a Pokémon at the beginning of the battle, then the Pokémon with the higher Speed rating will usually attack first. If only one Trainer pulls a lead-off Pokémon from the battle, the replacement Pokémon will not participate in the first round of attacks. It will have to absorb an attack. After the first round of attacks is completed, the Pokémon with the higher Speed rating will attack first. If both Trainers pull their lead-off Pokémon, first strike will again be determined by Speed. If the Pokémon have the same Speed rating, they will alternate first strike.

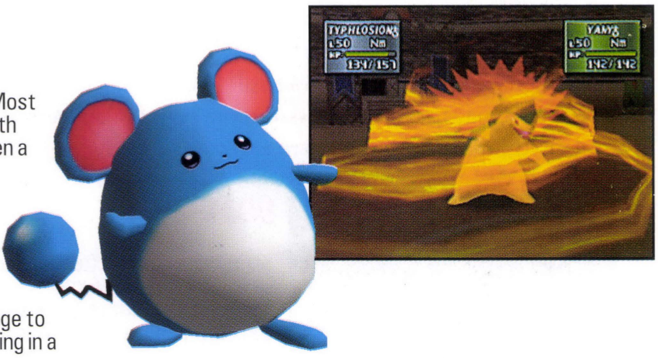
ATTACK!

After you've settled on the Pokémon you will use in the battle, you should press A then select one of four attacks assigned to the C Buttons. Each Trainer will choose an attack then each Pokémon will release its attack. Unless a Trainer switches Pokémon in battle or a fast Pokémon is slowed by an opponent's attack, the Pokémon with the higher Speed rating will continue to attack first throughout the battle. Try to select an attack that is particularly damaging to the type of Pokémon you are facing.

EFFECT

Different types of attacks produce different effects. Some of them will enhance your Pokémon's speed, defense or other attributes. Other attacks will lower the opposing Pokémon's attributes. Most attacks will simply lower the opposing Pokémon's HP. Once you have chosen an attack, you will both deliver your attack and receive your opponent's attack—unless the opposing Pokémon faints. When a Pokémon's HP is depleted, it will faint.



END OF BATTLE

The battle will continue for as long as each opposing Trainer has a conscious Pokémon. If you manage to defeat all three of your opponent's Pokémon, you will win the battle. Victorious Trainers participating in a tournament will win the right to progress to the next battle.

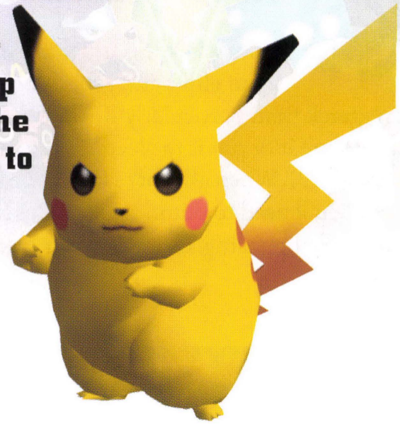
BASIC BATTLE STRATEGIES

You won't get very far in Pokémon Stadium 2 if you don't understand the basic battle strategies. The most important things to keep in mind are the types of attacks the Pokémon are using and the types of the Pokémon themselves. There are many other things to consider as well. Read on for more!



JUST MY TYPE!

Some moves are very powerful and others are not, but all are affected by type matchups. If you'd like a rough idea of how successful your attack will be against a particular Pokémon, you can check the Combat Chart on the next page and in the game's Library to find out what types of moves each Pokémon type is naturally weak or resistant to. Plus signs (+) indicate that an attack will do twice as much damage as it would regularly. Minus signs (-) show that an attack will do half as much damage. Equals signs (=) mean that an attack will have no effect at all. In addition, an attack will do 1.5 times the damage if it is used by a Pokémon of the same type. In the first example on the right, a Pikachu is using Thunderbolt against Gyarados. The attack is multiplied by 1.5 because Pikachu and Thunderbolt are both Electric-type. It's then multiplied by two twice because both Water- and Flying-types are weak against Electric-type attacks. Thunderbolt's power is multiplied by six, making it very powerful. The same attack will have no effect on Quagsire because its Ground-type takes zero damage, and anything multiplied by zero is zero.

POKéMON COMBAT CHART

While many pairs of opposing Pokémon are relatively evenly matched, the different Pokémon types all have weaknesses and strengths against various attack types. The chart to the right shows each Pokémon type's relative weakness to each attack type. Other factors, such as the attacking Pokémon's type and Critical Hits, also determine how much damage an attack will do.

NORMAL Physical attacks are listed in yellow.

MAKE YOUR MOVE

Almost all Pokémon moves can be considered Special Attacks or Attacks. You'll know how well your Pokémon will do with each kind of move by looking at its Attack and Special Attack stats. Pokémon with high Special Attack do well with Fire-, Water-, Electric-, Grass-, Ice-, Psychic-, Dragon- and Dark-type moves. Pokémon with high Attack do well with Normal-, Fighting-, Flying-, Ground-, Rock-, Bug-, Ghost-, Poison- and Steel-type moves. Likewise, Pokémon with low Defense won't stand up well to Normal moves or any other moves in the attack category, and Pokémon with low Special Defense will take a lot of damage from any Special Attack. The chart shows which types fall under each category.

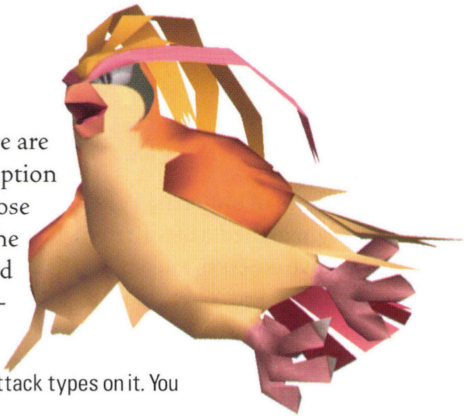
BUILD A TEAM



Every battle in Pokémon Stadium 2 requires you to pick a team of six Pokémon. There are several things to take into consideration when putting together a team. With the exception of many rounds of the Gym Leader Castle, you'll want a diverse team with members whose strengths cover their teammates' weaknesses. When assembling your teams, take a look at the lists of your opponents' Pokémon for each Cup, Ball or Gym, then pick your team members based on that information. Use our Recommended Rental Teams as a starting-off point, but don't hesitate to change members or even the entire team to suit your own individual style of battling.

A balanced team has many different Pokémon and attack types on it. You will never be able to have all the types represented.

TEAM EFFORT

For the Gym Leader Castle and in some other battles, it's wise to create a team with members that can cover the weaknesses of the other team members. You won't get to use each member and its backup in every fight, but it's still a good way to protect your team from harm.

ADVANCED BATTLING

If you want to defeat every last Trainer in Pokémon Stadium 2, you will need to consider and implement three final concepts. The most important is raising your own Pokémon. While the game does offer Rental Pokémon, it is very tough to win many of the battles in Pokémon Stadium 2 with them. You should also make a study of status-changing attacks, stat-altering attacks and items. Knowing the subtleties of Pokémon can dramatically improve your battling ability.

1. RAISE YOUR OWN POKéMON

The very best way to ensure a victory in Pokémon Stadium 2 is to raise a team of Pokémon for each and every Cup, Ball and Gym you enter. Using the Rentals is quite difficult, as you have to accept the sometimes odd and rarely powerful attacks that many of the creatures are equipped with, and you have no control over their stats. Training your own Pokémon for the rigors of Pokémon Stadium 2 is a great challenge that makes winning the battles that much more of an accomplishment.

STAT DATA

When selecting Pokémon to raise, try to catch several of the same type of Pokémon. When you check their stats, you'll notice that some have better stats than others. Keep the finest specimen you can find to raise into a champ.

LEVELING UP

Many of the competitions inside Pokémon Stadium 2 have level restrictions. For some of the battles, you'll have to raise your Pokémon's level very high, and for others, a newly hatched creature is just the right level. Take your Pokémon into battle so they can gain experience to level up and to learn new moves.

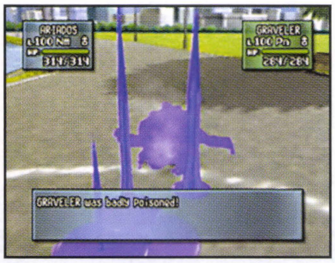
MAKE THE MOVES

When you raise a Pokémon specifically for a Cup or Gym, you can give it the perfect set of moves to make it unstoppable in battle. You can try raising one well-rounded team of very powerful Pokémon, but the level restrictions and differences in opposing Pokémon will make that a very difficult task.

2. STATUS AND STAT ALTERING

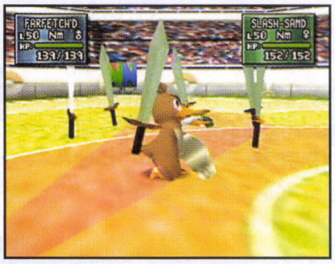
Some moves can alter a Pokémon's status by putting it to sleep or by poisoning, freezing, burning or paralyzing it. Similar moves confuse, attract or otherwise incapacitate Pokémon. Other moves alter the stats of one of the battling Pokémon. Those attacks usually do less damage immediately than a more aggressive attack would or no damage at at all, but they can be used to win a game slowly over several turns.



GRAVELER was badly poisoned!

STATUS ALTERING

When you make a Pokémon fall asleep or poison, burn, freeze or paralyze it, its changed status will show directly under its name. Those types of moves can chip away HP or stop a Pokémon from attacking altogether.



STAT ALTERING

Moves such as Swords Dance or Acid Armor raise your own stats, while moves like Charm or Screech lower your opponent's stats. For longer battles where the Pokémon have plenty of HP, those types of moves are very useful.

3. USEFUL ITEMS

While you can equip your Rental Pokémon with some items, you have a much better selection when you use Pokémon and items from your Gold or Silver game. Many items can give your Pokémon a bit of an edge when battling. After you've played a Gym or Cup several times, you'll understand even better which items would be most useful for each Pokémon.

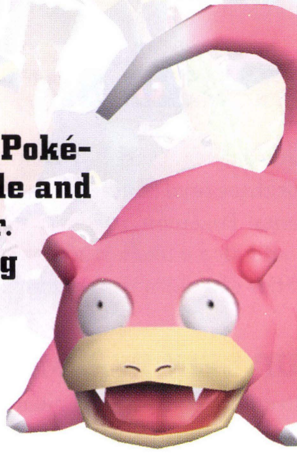
OTHER MODES

There are many different types of battles and activities in Pokémon Stadium 2. Some help you become a more knowledgeable and organized Trainer, while others test your skills as a Trainer. No matter what your ability, you'll find something challenging and enlightening within Pokémon Stadium 2.



THE ULTIMATE CHALLENGE

Most Trainers can win a Pokémon battle when they use their own Pokémon or hand-pick a team of creatures that have moves they are comfortable using. But it takes a ton of knowledge and skill to battle with a random team of creatures and still come out on top. That's the main challenge of the Challenge Cup—you don't get to pick your team; it's provided for you. It's up to you to figure out how to use the Pokémon and attacks you're given. Each Ball features Pokémon at different levels starting at 30 and ending at 75, and the opponents are, naturally, stronger at the higher levels. You really have to know your stuff to take the Challenge!

FREE BATTLE

Free battles allow you to play single matches against your friends or the computer. You can play by the rules of any of the Cups, and many of the Free Battles are open to more than two players. You can even play two against one if you use the Anything Goes rules! You can use your own Pokémon, Rentals or a combination of the two, and you can fight your match in many of the arenas from other parts of the game.

POKéMON LAB

The Pokémon Lab, Professor Oak's research lab, is a great resource for Trainers who own a Transfer Pak and one or more Red, Blue, Yellow, Gold or Silver Game Paks. Inside the lab, you can organize your Game Boy boxes, store Pokémon and items and check out a cool 3-D version of the Pokédex. You can even trade Pokémon between games inside the lab! When you receive items through Mystery Gift or win Gift Pokémon, you can pick them up in the lab. If you don't have a Transfer Pak and a Game Boy Pokémon game, you won't be able to access the lab.

SWITCHING GB PAKS

If you have more than one Transfer Pak and Game Boy game hooked up to your Pokémon Stadium 2 game, you can use the Poké Ball-shaped machine to switch Paks.

PC

The PC allows you to organize your Pokémon and items, name your storage boxes and store items in boxes on the Pokémon Stadium 2 Pak.

POKéDEX

You can access an advanced version of your own Pokédex in the Pokédex area. You'll find information about the Pokémon you have, their habitats and other interesting data, and you can rotate them in 3-D.

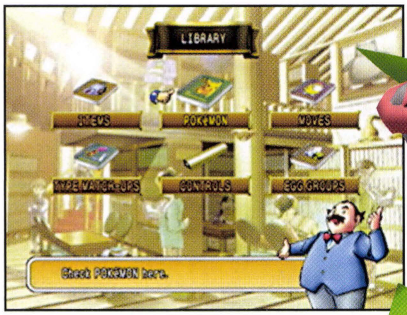
POKéMON ACADEMY: LIBRARY

You won't find any literature in the Pokémon Academy's Library, but you will find a lot of Pokémon information inside the unbelievably helpful area. You can look up all sorts of things about each Pokémon, from its type matchups to all the moves, including Egg Moves, that it can learn. You can also find out info on the items, TMs and HMs, moves and Egg Groups. The information found in the Library can help you become a better Trainer. It's a great resource and perhaps the largest, most comprehensive Pokémon reference guide available.



Check POKéMON here.

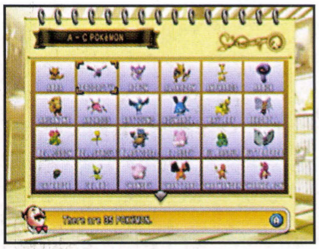
EGG GROUPS

Pokémon breeders should check out the Egg Groups section of the Library. The Egg Group or Groups that a Pokémon belongs to determine which other Pokémon it can produce an Egg with.



If you'd like to know which Pokémon your Pokémon can breed with, look it up by its name or, if you know it, by its group. Pokémon that have similar shapes can usually produce Eggs together.

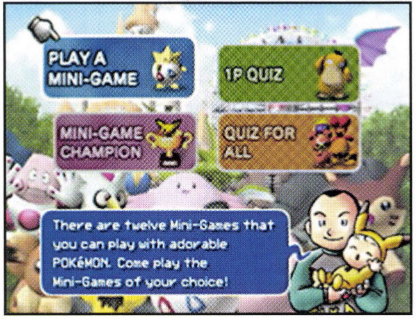
MINIGAMES

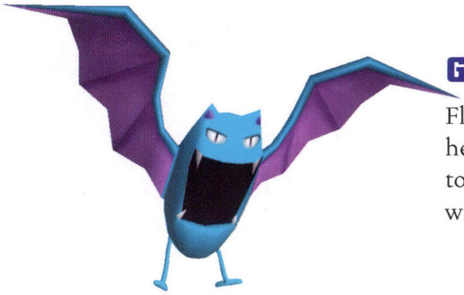
The Stadium isn't the only place where you can battle Pokémon. In the Minigame area, you can pit your Pokémon against three rival Pokémon in races and other fun diversions. The battle is for tokens, and if you've got your GB game plugged into a Transfer Pak, you can really score big!



There are twelve Mini-Games that you can play with adorable POKéMON. Come play the Mini-Games of your choice!

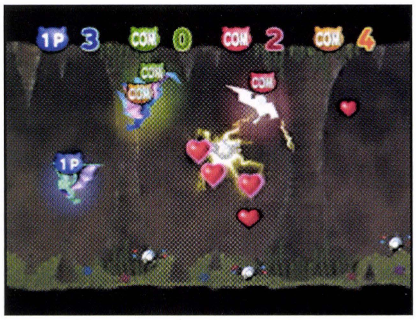
FUN BY THE DOZEN

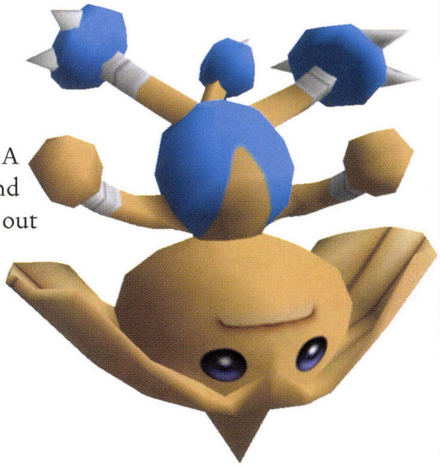
Up to four players can compete simultaneously in any of the 12 arcade-style minigames. Players can test their skills in a single game or in a series of games, as well as in a Pokémon trivia quiz. At first, you can play the minigames on one of three difficulties. To unlock the fourth difficulty level, Very Hard, you must win a seven-, eight- or nine-token Minigame Champion competition against three CPU opponents set at Hard.



GUTSY GOLBAT

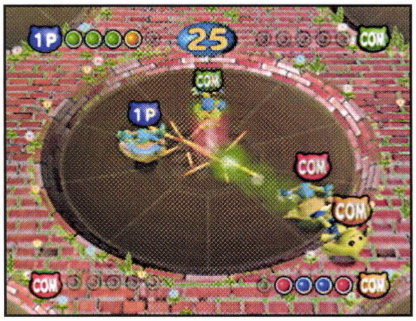
Flap through the side-scrolling cave as Golbat on the hunt for hearts. Repeatedly tap A to fly higher and use the Control Stick to steer into hearts and away from Magnemite. If you collide with a Magnemite or rival, you might lose some of your load.

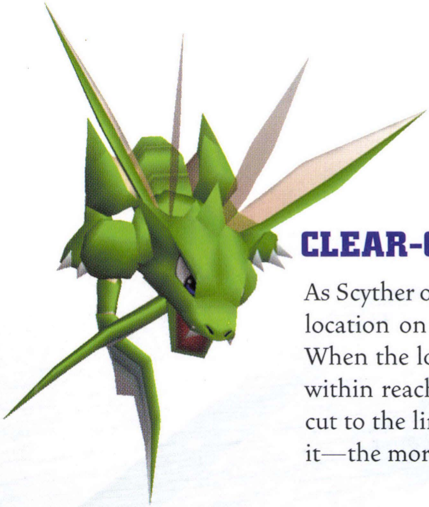




TOPSY TURVY

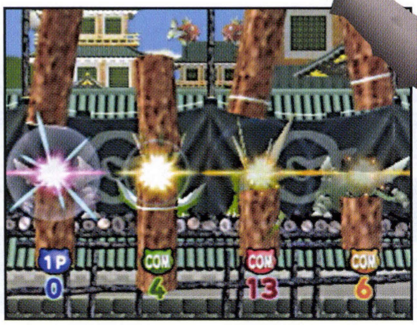
When you give Hitmontop's dizzying game a whirl, use the A Button to twist into a Rapid Spin. Stay in the circular arena and win one point by spinning into opponents and knocking them out of the ring. The game winds down after someone scores five points or the 60-second time limit runs out.

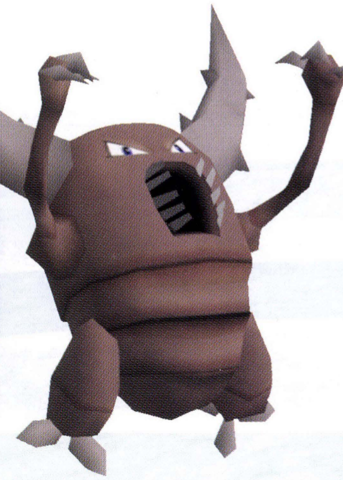


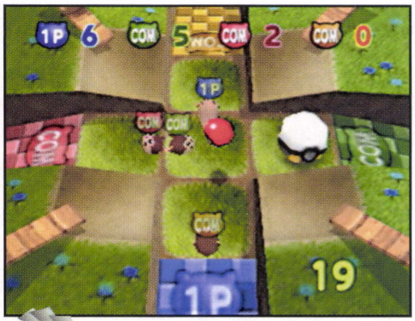


CLEAR-CUT CHALLENGE

As Scyther or Pinsir, make note of the white line's location on the log when it's raised above you. When the log drops, hit A as the white line falls within reach to slash through it. The closer you cut to the line—as long as you don't chop above it—the more points you'll win.

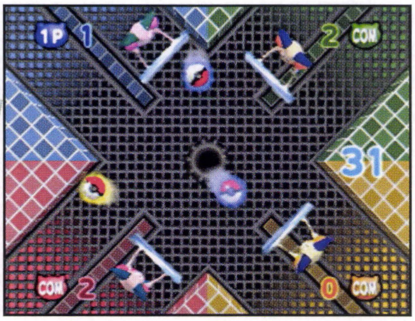






FURRET'S FROLIC

It's no coincidence that Furret's playing field is shaped like the Control Pad. Press Up on the Control Pad to appear in the top grassy patch, press Left to appear in the left one, and so on. Pop up wherever a Poké Ball appears and use A to bop it into your goal.

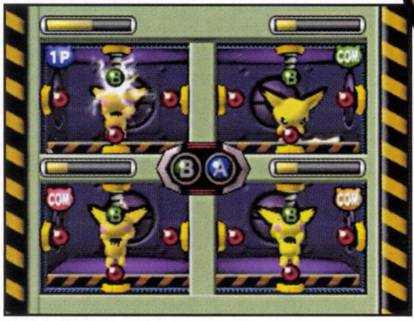


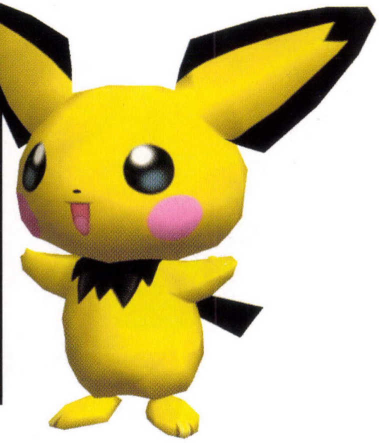
BARRIER BALL

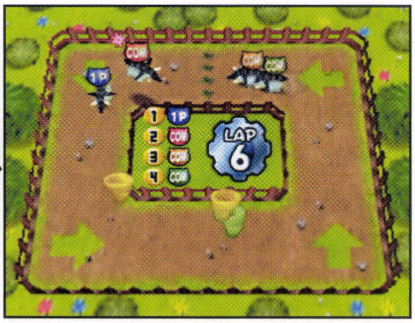
As a strong, silent Psychic-type, Mr. Mime knows actions speak louder than words. Barrier Ball keeps the action high as players shuffle back and forth to deflect ricocheting Poké Balls into rivals' goals. The game ends after 60 seconds, or sooner if someone scores five points.

PICHU'S POWER PLANT

Pichu's game is similar to the Thundering Dynamo minigame from the original Pokémon Stadium, but it's even more electrifying. When a lamp lights up, press and hold the Control Pad toward the bulb while rapidly tapping the button that appears.





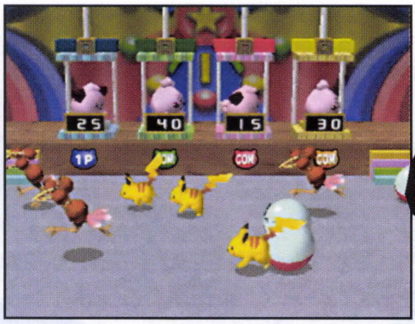


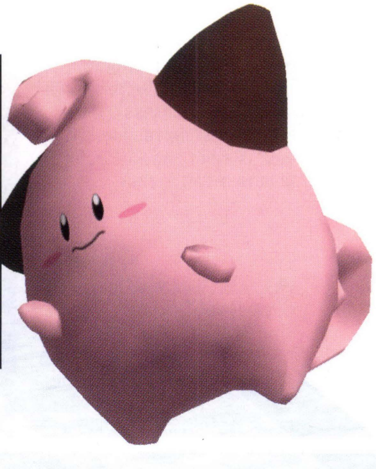
RAMPAGE ROLLOUT

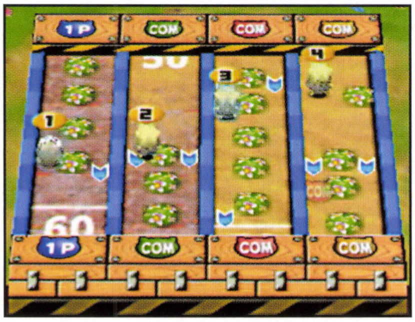
Tear up the track as Donphan racing counterclockwise across the dusty course. Tap A just as the "1" in the starting countdown disappears to bust out a rolling jump start. During the final lap when Donphan curls up into its Rollout move, dump your dirt clouds to get an extra boost.

STREAMING STAMPEDE

As an observing Igglybuff or Cleffa, count the Pokémon that are pictured before the round. Tap the A Button for every designated Pokémon that stampedes through the studio. As long as your total isn't off by more than two, you'll score points for your tally.





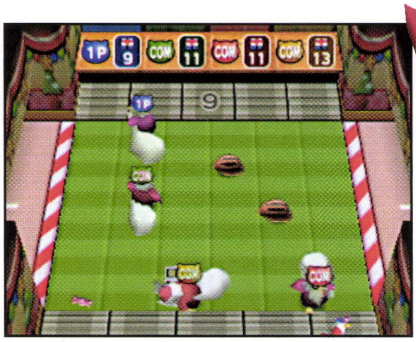


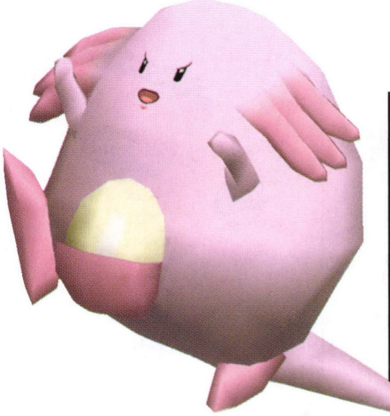
TUMBLING TOGEPI

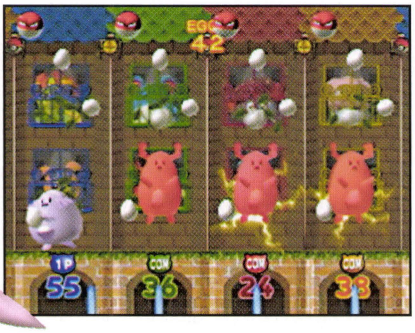
Run down your lane avoiding obstacles to be the first Togepi to cross the finish line. Blue arrows will give you a speed boost and help you bounce over logs without losing much time. Just beware of hazardous Diglett that will rear their heads in the final stretch.

DELIBIRD'S DELIVERY

Bag prizes and unload them anywhere at the top of the screen. Avoid losing your loot by dodging stampeding Swinub and score bonus points (up to five times a prize's value) by nabbing the same item in a row (doing it on consecutive trips counts).





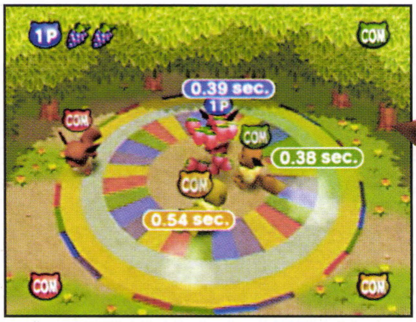


EGG EMERGENCY

It's raining Eggs, and you must catch as many of them as you can. Hit L or R to pocket Eggs that fall to either side of you, and press nothing to stay in the center. Whatever you do, avoid falling Voltorb—they'll zap some Eggs from your total.

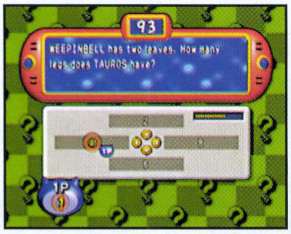
EAGER EEVEE

When Aipom raises its barrel, hit A as fast as you can to be the first one to grab the prize (as long as it's not a Pineco). Even if you're not the fastest, you can still win part of a strawberry pile if your time is close to the fastest. If multiple players turn in identical top times, they'll share the prize evenly.



QUIZ

If any Minigame Champion game ends in a tie, the top scorers will settle their victory with a quiz. Press the C Button that corresponds with your answer and do it before your rival can buzz in.

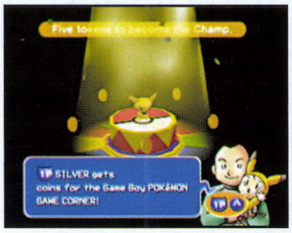


93

WEEPINBELL has two leaves. How many legs does TAUROS have?

WIN COINS

Plug your Pokémon Gold or Silver Game Pak into the Transfer Pak and play to be the Minigame Champion. If you win the tournament and have the coin case, you'll rake in some coins for the GB Pokémon Game Corner.



Five tokens to become the Champ.

PLAY WITH YOUR PERSONAL POKéMON

If you have the right Pokémon in your personal collection, it will automatically join in the fun when you play a minigame using the Transfer Pak. A Poké Ball will appear in place of the 1P that usually appears on the minigame rules screen to indicate one of your personal Pokémon is eligible to play. Experiment with your GB collection—even a Girafarig can play in Furret's Frolic!

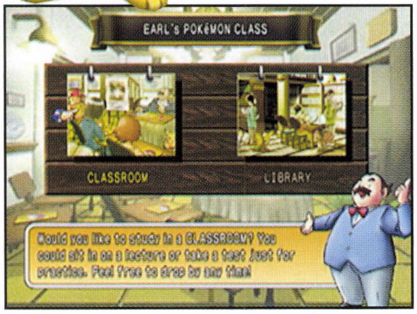
EARL'S POKéMON ACADEMY

TRAINER CLASS

At the Pokémon Academy, Earl will teach you the ins and outs of battling. To work your way to the head of the class, you must begin with his Trainer Class. If you listen to his Lectures and pass his Wisdom and Skill Tests, you'll earn the Pichu Medal, which will unlock his next level of schooling.

CLASS IS IN SESSION

Regardless of your experience as a Trainer, you'll find Earl's lessons to be helpful and enlightening. He gives very detailed pointers on battling, and he'll put your knowledge to the test by making you apply his lessons in actual battle. Skipping his lessons will only cheat you of useful techniques and strategies, and supplying you with all the answers won't teach you much, either. Since it would defeat the purpose to show you all the answers and info on Earl's helpful classes, only a few notes and examples are being revealed. Don't think you're too cool for school—Earl's Pokémon Academy will help you become a better Trainer no matter how good you think you are.



Would you like to study in a CLASSROOM? You could sit in on a lecture or take a test just for practice. Feel free to drop by any time!

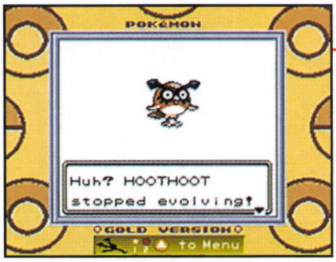
LECTURES

You must earn a star in all three sessions of Trainer Class—Lectures, Skill Test and Wisdom Test—before you'll win the Pichu Medal and graduate to more advanced instruction in the Gym Leader Class. Begin your education with the Trainer Class Lectures. The lessons Earl will teach appear on the menu to the left. After each lesson, Earl will test you on what he just taught you. Answer all of his pop quizzes correctly to complete his Lectures.



Huh? HOOTHOOT stopped evolving!

LEVEL EVOLUTION NOTES

In his lesson on evolution, Earl will explain that you shouldn't be too anxious to evolve your Pokémon. Since Pokémon learn moves more slowly after leveling up, you may not want to let it evolve until it has learned some desirable moves.

MOVES & TACTICS

You can use two-turn moves to your advantage if you use them in the proper situation. In Earl's notes on moves and tactics, he'll reveal some specific two-turn moves that can help you evade attacks. Among the maneuvers he recommends are Fly and Dig. Both moves can keep you out of harm's reach for one turn, so you'll be able to dodge your opponent's next move.

SWITCHING

One of Earl's most important lessons is how you must learn to endure. No matter how bad a situation is, it might be better to roll with the punches and let a struggling Pokémon stick out the battle rather than waste a turn by switching it to a healthier one. If you immediately switch, the backup Pokémon you call in will be open to attack. If you let your losing Pokémon faint, your backup will be able to enter the arena with an opening move.

SKILL TEST

After completing Earl's Trainer Class Lectures, you'll be ready to test your knowledge in his Wisdom Test. As long as you can answer at least eight of his 10 multiple choice questions correctly, you'll earn a star for the second part of the Trainer Class. The third and final part of the Trainer Class is the Skill Test, where you'll apply your new knowledge in seven battles. To pass each battle successfully, you must win the fight using the three Pokémon that are perfectly suited to defeat your rival's team. There are only three correct Pokémon for each battle, so use what Earl taught you to recruit the right team. The proper picks for your team appear in the yellow bar and are listed in red in the Skill Test matchups detailed below and on the following pages.

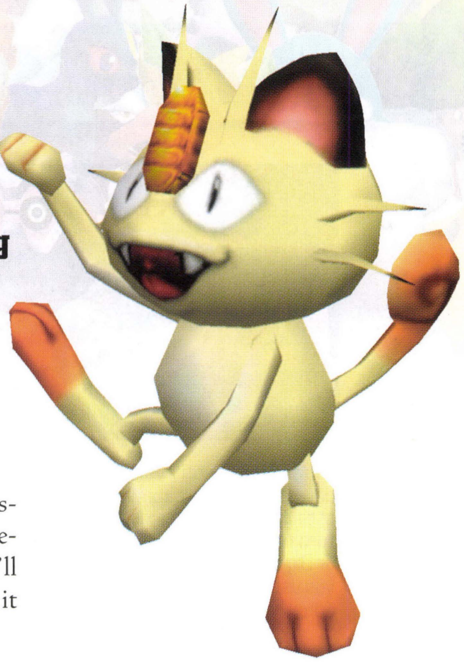
GYM LEADER CLASS

The second level of courses Earl teaches is Gym Leader Class. As in Trainer Class, you must ace his Lectures, Wisdom Test and Skill Test to pass and earn a prize—the Pikachu Medal. Pay close attention, because Earl will go into more detail, revealing sneakier tactics in his second round of school.



LECTURES

Expanding on what he taught you in Trainer Class, Earl will give you more detailed lessons on being a good Trainer. Familiarize yourself with everything he teaches you, especially the five Lectures detailed below and on page 27. All five lessons relate to the students you'll battle in Earl's Gym Leader Skill Test, and if you've studied up, you'll have the specific know-how it takes to beat them.

MOVES & TACTICS

In Trainer Class, Earl taught you the tricks to using Fly and Dig. You won't be the only one who knows their secrets, so you'll also need to know how to counter the two moves. Attend Earl's moves and tactics lesson to learn which moves can attack Pokémon that are flying or burrowing underground. Earl details several ways to retaliate, and three of his examples appear below.

MULTITYPE MOVES

When choosing Pokémon, don't just concentrate on teaming up diverse Pokémon types. Diverse attack types are also important. Earl will teach you to pair Pokémon types with attack types that overcome their weaknesses. With just the right attack, you'll be able to protect yourself from Pokémon types that are supposed to be dominant over you.

LEAD-OFF POKéMON

Your first move is an important one, so don't send out the wrong Pokémon and waste a turn switching it to a more appropriate one. You can't predict what your opponent is going to send out, so you'll never know if your competitor will be able to exploit your Pokémon's weaknesses. In Earl's discussion on lead-off Pokémon, he'll teach you that Electric- and Normal-types are the least vulnerable and the perfect contenders for opening a bout.

SWITCHING

In his lesson on switching, Earl will tell you that you don't necessarily have to waste a turn changing Pokémon. As long as you can call in a Pokémon that is resistant to your opponent, you won't have to worry that your replacement will enter the arena open to attack. Earl will teach you how to pick the right Pokémon for the job so you won't regret making a switch.

HOLDING AN ITEM

You can assign an item to each of your Pokémon. Using what Earl teaches in his class, you'll know exactly which items will supplement your Pokémon's moves perfectly. Earl recommends pairing particular Berries with particular attacks that negatively affect your status. Poliwhirl's example below is just one of the scenarios he details in his Lecture.

SKILL TEST

See the Gym Leader lessons you've learned in action by putting them to work in Earl's Gym Leader Skill Test. Pick the correct team for each battle to clear it, and successfully win all five battles with the proper lineups to earn a star. If you pick the incorrect team but win the battle, a flame will appear in place of the star. Only after you've earned a star in every battle will you earn the right to possess the Pikachu Medal.

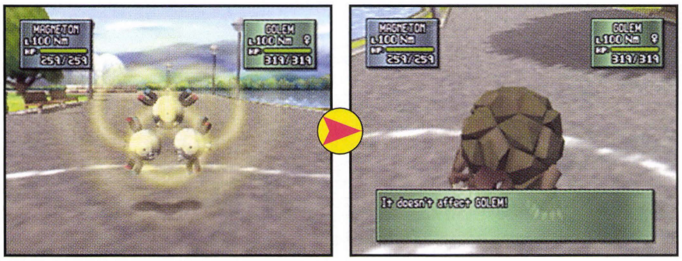
POKéMON MASTER CLASSES

You'll be quizzed at the end of each lecture, but that's not the only reason you should pay close attention to the lessons of the Elite Four Class. The information you'll pick up will help you understand some of the less obvious aspects of Pokémon battles from both the aggressor's and the defender's points of view. We've highlighted a few of the lessons and explained them here. Study them carefully.

SUPPORT MOVES

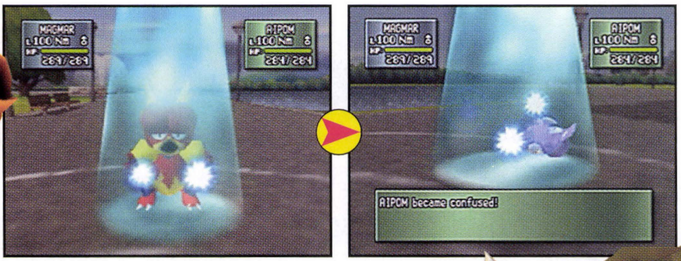
Every Pokémon Trainer should understand the importance of support moves. The moves alter Pokémon stats and status, among other things, and Trainers that use them generally have the advantage over Trainers that do not. There are many support moves, and some are affected by type matchups while others are not. Study the Moves section of the Library to learn more about specific support moves.



It doesn't affect GOLEM!

AFFECTED BY TYPE

Thunder Wave is one support move that is affected by Pokémon type. It will not work on a Ground-type Pokémon.



AIPOM became confused!

UNAFFECTED BY TYPE

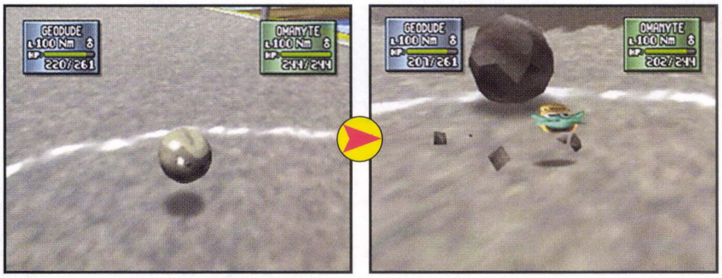
Confuse Ray is a Ghost-type move, but it still works on Normal-type Pokémon. It is unaffected by type matchups.

COMBOS

Many attacks can be used together to create impressive combos. We've listed quite a few of the most well-known, but enterprising Pokémon Trainers will always come up with even more great ways to use several moves in combinations. When raising a Pokémon, you might want to equip it with several moves that work together. Of course, that will leave you with fewer slots to include your favorite attacks. Take a careful look at some of the combinations. Several, like those involving Lock-On or Mind Reader, are just some of the many possibilities. Again, a thorough study of the Moves section in the Library will help you discover and create many more combos.

DEFENSE CURL

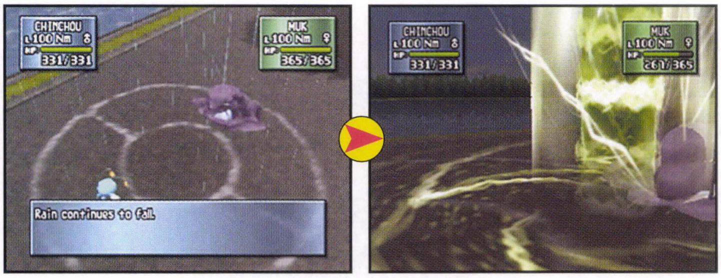
ROLLOUT



The Defense Curl and Rollout combination is unique. Rollout's power is doubled if Defense Curl is used just before it.

RAIN DANCE

THUNDER

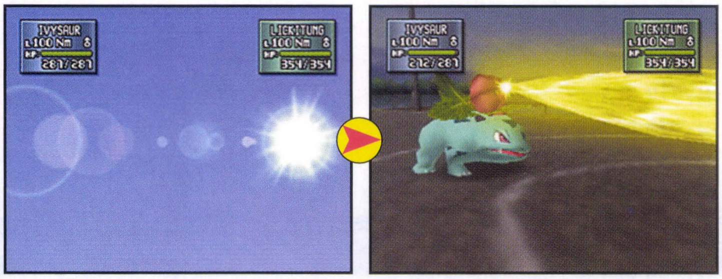


Rain continues to fall.

The weather affects several moves. Thunder will always hit when it's raining as a result of Rain Dance.

SUNNY DAY

SOLARBEAM



Sunny Day makes the sunlight very bright, allowing creatures to attack with Solarbeam on every turn without having to charge up first.

GROWTH + GIGA DRAIN

Growth raises a Pokémon's Special Attack, making Giga Drain more effective.

BELLY DRUM + REST + SNORE
BELLY DRUM + REST + SLEEP TALK

Belly Drum raises a Pokémon's Attack to its max but halves its HP. Use Rest to recover HP, and Snore or Sleep Talk to attack while the Pokémon sleeps.

HYPNOSIS + DREAM EATER

Dream Eater will be successful only when the opposing Pokémon is sleeping, but if your Pokémon uses Hypnosis, it can make the opposing Pokémon sleep.

LOCK-ON + ZAP CANNON
MIND READER + DYNAMICPUNCH

Moves like Lock-On and Mind Reader ensure that the next attack will always hit. Use them in combination with powerful, low-accuracy attacks.

ENDURE + REVERSAL
ENDURE + FLAIL

Endure leaves your Pokémon with one HP, maximizing the effectiveness of Reversal and Flail, which work better the lower your Pokémon's HP.

MEAN LOOK + PERISH SONG + PROTECT (ENDURE)

Mean Look prevents the opposing Pokémon from escaping the battle. Perish Song makes both battling Pokémon faint after three turns. Protect or Endure will save the Pokémon that uses it from Perish Song's effect if used correctly.

MEAN LOOK + TOXIC

Toxic's effects are much greater on every consecutive turn. Mean Look ensures that your poisoned opponent won't switch out to avoid damage.

ATTRACT + THUNDER WAVE, SUPERSONIC, TWISTER, ETC.

If you double- or triple-up on moves that confuse, attract, or cause flinching or other reactions, you might keep the opposing Pokémon from attacking you. Remember, you can't double-up on moves that appear in your opponent's status indicator, but you can pair them with other moves that prevent attacking.

SWEET SCENT + FURY CUTTER

Sweet Scent makes your opponent easier to hit, increasing the likelihood that Fury Cutter will hit every time and cause more and more damage.

SAFEGUARD + OUTRAGE

Use Safeguard before you use Outrage to keep your Pokémon from becoming confused after Outrage has run its course.

SWAGGER + PSYCH UP

Swagger causes your opponent's Attack to go up, but it also confuses it. Psych Up allows you to copy your opponent's raised Attack stat without the confusion.

SANDSTORM + WRAP

Sandstorm inflicts damage at the end of every turn. Use Wrap to keep your opponent tied up and unable to escape while the Sandstorm rages.

SUNNY DAY + MORNING SUN
SUNNY DAY + MOONLIGHT
SUNNY DAY + SYNTHESIS

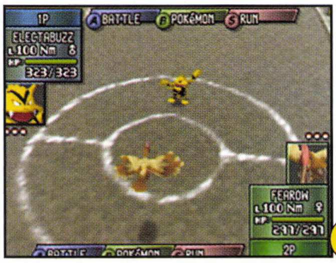
While Sunny Day is in effect, Morning Sun, Moonlight and Synthesis will provide double the HP-restoring power, fully healing the user.

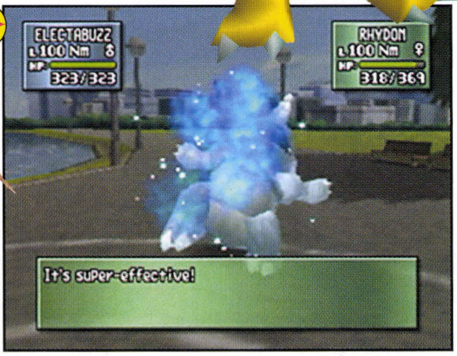
CURSE + EXTREME SPEED

Arcanine can use Curse to raise its Attack and Defense and lower its Speed on the first turn, then Extreme Speed on the second turn to attack first.

READING THE FOE'S MOVES

Often, you'll find yourself in a seemingly ideal situation—your Pokémon's type is supereffective against your opponent's type. In that situation, you might want to start with your most powerful move that matches your type to get the biggest return on your attack. But think about it first. If you were your opponent, wouldn't you switch Pokémon to a type that was least vulnerable to your Pokémon's type? You probably would, and your opponent probably would, too. In that situation, it's usually best to use an attack that would be equally effective against your opponent's current Pokémon and the Pokémon he or she is likely to replace it with. Or you could pick an attack that the likely replacement would be weak against, if you have one.





It's super-effective!

HOLDING AN ITEM

Many wild Pokémon will be holding items when you catch or battle them. Always check your Pokémon for items after you catch them. They'll sometimes hold some pretty great stuff. You can use Thief to steal an item from another Pokémon, but it doesn't always work. There are many special items, so be sure to check the Library for more info!

SPEED went way up!

Raticate, Raichu and Scyther are the best Pokémon to use when speed counts. Agility helps raise the speed of the Pokémon using it, while Icy Wind lowers the opponent's speed. When your Pokémon go first, they can prepare themselves to Endure an attack.

The sunlight is strong.

The three Pokémon highlighted in red all take advantage of Sunny Day's power. Sunny Day lasts for five turns, and its power affects both battling Pokémon, for better or worse. You can actually lower your own attacks if you use Sunny Day carelessly.

CHART KEY

Building the right team for the battle is the key to the game. For every battle, the Recommended Rental and Raised Pokémon are listed so you can stay a step ahead of your rival.

RECOMMENDED RENTALS

Pokémon battles are always unpredictable (that's what makes them fun), so there's always an outside chance that the Pokémon that seems perfect for the job might just fail. By carefully considering important factors including moves, types and ratings, and testing them out in battle after battle, we've come up with Recommended Rentals that we think will earn you a victory most of the time.

Stadium 2 is definitely more difficult if you play using Rentals, so if you're up to the challenge, try assembling an all-Rental team—use our suggestions or experiment with your own. The Recommended Rental Team we suggest for each battle is the lineup that we've found works best for us. We can't guarantee you'll win with our picks, but the odds of winning should be in your favor.

CUP NAME

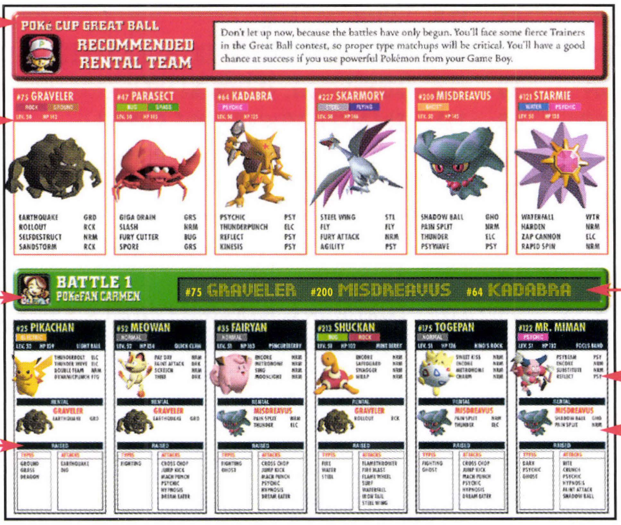
RECOMMENDED RENTAL TEAM

When you're putting together a team of Rentals, use our Recommended Rental Team for inspiration. All six of the Pokémon we think are good for a Cup competition along with their moves and stats will appear before the rival Trainer info.

RIVAL

RAISED

If you're trying to raise the perfect team by personally training and catching your Pokémon on one of the Game Boy versions of Pokémon, consider the Raised data we've included.



POKé CUP GREAT BALL

RECOMMENDED RENTAL TEAM

Don't let up now, because the battles have only begun. You'll face some fierce Trainers in the Great Ball contest, so proper type matchups will be critical. You'll have a good chance at success if you use powerful Pokémon from your Game Boy.

RECOMMENDED THREE

Of the six members of your Recommended Rental Team, the three Rentals that should do well in a particular battle appear by the rival's name.

RIVAL'S POKéMON

Know what you're up against by checking out your rival's team of Pokémon. The Pokémon's moves and all their vital stats are included.

RECOMMENDED POKéMON AND ATTACK

When your rival brings out a Pokémon, call in the Recommended Rental pictured below it and fight using the suggested move or attacks.

AFTER BATTLE 10 OF THE GYM LEADER CASTLE...

Beginning with Battle 11 of the Gym Leader Castle, only the three Recommended Rentals you should choose for battle will appear. The entire team of six won't be shown.

LITTLE CUP

The Little Cup is open only to Pokémon at level 5 or below—but don't let that lull you into a false sense of security. Because most level-5 Pokémon don't have high HP or impressive stats, you'll need to rely on near-perfect strategy. Check the list below to see which Pokémon are eligible to participate.

POKé CUP

Load up the Poké Balls and get ready to brawl, because the Poké Cup is your next big challenge. You'll need to fight your way through four levels of Trainers—and each increases in difficulty. On the plus side, Poké Cup matches are open to the usual 246 Pokémon at level 50 to level 55, which means you'll be able to build a diverse and powerful team.

POKé CUP POKé BALL

RECOMMENDED RENTAL TEAM

Our Rental team contains a little bit of everything, and it's the perfect solution for the Poké Ball blues. Many of your early opponents concentrate only on one type of Pokémon, so you should be able to wipe them out with little trouble.

POKé CUP GREAT BALL

RECOMMENDED RENTAL TEAM

Don't let up now, because the battles have only begun. You'll face some fierce Trainers in the Great Ball contest, so proper type matchups will be critical. You'll have a good chance at success if you use powerful Pokémon from your Game Boy.

PRIME CUP

The Prime Cup is no place for the meek, so if you're not ready to battle the cream of the Pokémon crop, you'd better find another arena! The Prime Cup is a no-holds-barred slugfest with no restrictions on Pokémon type or level. If you have homegrown Pokémon from your Game Boy, it would be a fabulous time to bring them into play.

RECOMMENDED RENTAL TEAM

Psychic-type Pokémon can rule the day in the Prime Cup if you use them wisely. Wobbuffet's Mirror Coat is your answer to powerful opponent attacks like Psychic, while Kadabra—a rental team mainstay—has almost no weaknesses.

GYM LEADER CASTLE

The best Pokémon Trainers in the world gather at the Gym Leader Castles in Johto and Kanto. You'll begin your climb to the top in the Johto Castle, battling through eight Gyms, Team Rocket and the Elite Four. If you emerge victorious, you'll have nine more battles to conquer in Kanto. In all, you'll face 38 Trainers and their highly trained Pokémon.

TEAM ROCKET

RECOMMENDED RENTAL TEAM

The first Grunt relies on explosive force, but you can weather that. Skarmory has the mettle to face most of Team Rocket's Pokémon, but you'll need some help from Graveler and Machoke, as well. Team Rocket's bark is worse than its bite.

RECOMMENDED RENTAL TEAM

Clair's Dragon-type Pokémon are some of the toughest fighters in the Castle. Remoraid's Surf and Ice Beam are used only in the final battle, but they're critical at that time. Clair typically uses Kingdra, Dragonair and Rhydon.

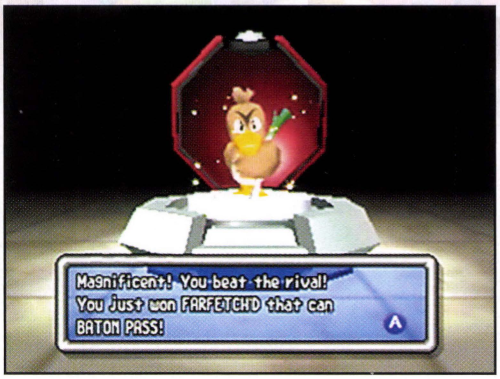
VS. RIVAL-ROUND 1

Rival's team is very different from Gold and Silver, and it's very powerful. All three of Rival's Pokémon use Safeguard, which keeps every member of the team safe from status changes for five turns. You may want to start with Corsola. Use Mirror Coat to send the damage you take from a Special Attack right back to your opponent at double the power. Each Pokémon has two rentals listed under it. Try using the attacks highlighted in red when battling those particular Pokémon. Don't switch out your Pokémon very often—you can't afford to miss a turn in this match.

I didn't think you'd make it this far.
Come on! Lets settle this now!



Magnificent! You beat the rival!
You just won FARFETCH'D that can BATON PASS!

LITTLE CUP

There's little room for error in the Little Cup—every turn counts, which means that status problems can ruin your chances of winning. Pokémon at level 5 are vulnerable to attacks that wouldn't be a danger normally. It takes equal amounts of Pokémon knowledge, battling skill and luck to win with Rental Pokémon, but it can be done.

LITTLE CUP RECOMMENDED RENTAL TEAM

Try your luck with this diverse group of Rental Pokémon if you're looking for a challenge. Watch for Cora's Attract and Thunder Wave, and don't underestimate Clark's Chikorita or Rex's Onix and Scyther. It could take several tries to win.

POKé CUP GREAT BALL RECOMMENDED RENTAL TEAM

The Trainers in the Great Ball will try their best to confuse, poison or paralyze you, and they're also fond of lowering your Pokémon's stats. You'll need to battle many of the Trainers several times before you'll understand how to beat them.

RECOMMENDED RENTAL TEAM

If you use the same sort of paralyze-and-confuse combos the computer opponents are fond of, you should do very well. Try leading with Dragonair's Thunder Wave and following with Chinchou's Confuse Ray. The Psychic's team is very tough.

POKé CUP MASTER BALL

RECOMMENDED RENTAL TEAM

The teams you'll face in the Master Ball are very hard to beat—the Rentals can't match their power. Almost half the time, the recommended attacks either send the opponent's power back at it or take the opponent down when the Rental Pokémon faints.

PRIME CUP

The Trainers in the Prime Cup's second round are diabolically clever, and they've armed themselves with a dizzying array of mighty Pokémon—you may even meet an exceedingly rare Pokémon from Gold and Silver named Celebi! It will take all of your skill and a heaping portion of good luck just to survive!

RECOMMENDED RENTAL TEAM

Retaliatory moves are the name of the game in Round 2's Prime Cup. Wobbuffet's Mirror Coat and Counter are best for taking out high-powered Pokémon, while Misdreavus's Pain Split is a real lifesaver when used effectively.

GYM LEADER CASTLE

The sun sets as Round 2 begins, and only the most experienced Trainers remain. Since some Trainers tend to mimic the Pokémon type choices of the their Gym Leaders, you may have a slight team-building edge going in to each Gym. But the advantage ends there. Every battle will be hard-fought, and the better Trainer will almost always win.

VIOLET GYM

RECOMMENDED RENTAL TEAM

Both Trainers that you face in the first Gym fill their teams with Flying-types. That makes Electric-types a natural for your team. Falkner always opens with Zapdos. Use Onix's Sandstorm first and follow it with Rock Throw.

GOLDENROD GYM

RECOMMENDED RENTAL TEAM

The theme for the Goldenrod Gym is Normal-type Pokémon. Each of the three Trainers has three Normal-types on her team. That's your cue to bring out the fighting moves. Primeape, Machoke and Hitmonlee will provide a lot of punch.

RECOMMENDED RENTAL TEAM

The first two Trainers in the Ecruteak Gym are fans of Poison-types. Kadabra or Graveler should be a good antidote. For the battle with Gym Leader Morty, Houndoom, with the Dark-type Bite move, is the star of our recommended team.

RECOMMENDED RENTAL TEAM

The Trainers of Blackthorn Gym would rather wipe out your team quickly with massive attacks than try to chip away at your Pokémon with status-altering moves. You can either try to set up a strong defense or answer in kind.

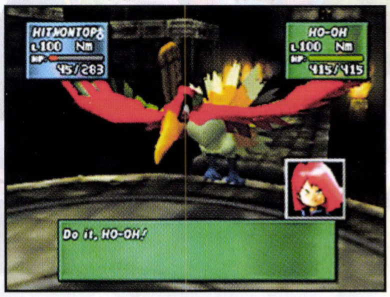
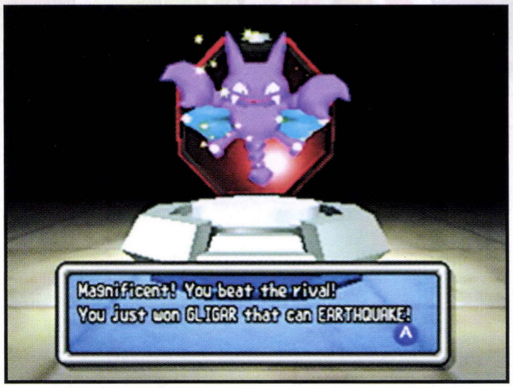
VS. RIVAL–ROUND 2

Your Rival will pull out all of the stops for the ultimate battle—a repeat performance from the all-star trio of Lugia, Ho-oh and Mewtwo. While it is an advantage to know the exact makeup of the opposing team, there's no getting around the fact that the battle will be intense and challenging. The key is to hit your opponents fast and hard. With moves like Lugia's Safeguard and Mewtwo's Recover to contend with, you won't get far with subtle tactics. When you win, you'll earn a Gligar with Earthquake ability!



Do it, HO-OH!



Magnificent! You beat the rival!
You just won GLIGAR that can EARTHQUAKE!

POKé CHARTS

RARE POKéMON

All Pokémon are special, but some are more special than others. Certain Pokémon are very difficult to catch—you may have just one shot at capturing them before they disappear for good. Others must evolve under specific circumstances. Another group can be received only as gifts.

TREASURED TEAM MEMBERS

You'll need to jump through a few hoops in the Game Boy adventures to get any of the Pokémon listed below, and it will be worth it when you watch them work their magic in 3-D on the N64.

FIRST FRIENDS

BULBASAUR

IVYSAUR

VENUSAUR

CHARMANDER

CHARMELEON

CHARIZARD

SQUIRTLE

WARTORTLE

BLASTOISE

R B Y

When you start your adventure in Pokémon Red or Blue, you'll have the option of choosing one of three rare Pokémon: Bulbasaur, Charmander and Squirtle. You can't go wrong with any of them, but you'll have a difficult time obtaining the two that you don't pick. You can find all of them in Yellow, but you must receive them as gifts for completing special tasks.

EXTRAORDINARY POKéMON

ARTICUNO

ZAPDOS

MOLTRES

MEWTWO

R B Y

Four extraordinary Pokémon can be captured in Red, Blue and Yellow, and you'll get only one chance to snare each of them. Be careful not to defeat them, or you'll need to look for somebody who wants to trade them. You'll probably have to give the owner of a Mewtwo something pretty good in return.

NEW LEGENDS

RAIKOU

ENTEI

LUGIA

HO-OH

G S

Five fanciful finds are available only in Gold and Silver. Raiku, Entei and Suicune are legendary, catlike Pokémon that you'll need to hunt down after you scare them away from the Burned Tower. Lugia and Ho-oh are legendary birds that you'll find once in Silver and Gold. They are difficult to capture.

NO MEW FOR YOU

MEW

Mew is the rarest of the rare—you must receive the Pokémon directly from Nintendo. If you get your hands on the Psychic-type, you'll see why it's so special.

EEVEELUTION

VAPOREON

JOLTEON

FLAREON

ESPEON

UMBREON

R B Y G S

You can make Normal-type Pokémon Eevee evolve into Water-type Vaporeon, Electric-type Jolteon or Fire-type Flareon by inducing the change with a Water, Thunder or Fire Stone. If you treat your Eevee very well in Gold or Silver, it will change into Psychic-type Espeon if it evolves during the daytime, or into Dark-type Umbreon if it evolves at night.

TYROGUE SQUADRON

TYROGUE

HITMONTOP

R B Y G S

Scrappy Tyrogue is the pre-evolved form of Hitmonchan, Hitmonlee and Hitmontop. If you defeat Blackbelt Kyo in Gold or Silver, he will award you with the rare Fighting-type. You must manipulate Tyrogue's attack and defense ratings if you want it to evolve into a specific Pokémon. It can evolve into Hitmontop in Gold and Silver only.

REWARDING ROCKS

OMANYTE

KABUTO

KABUTOPS

R B Y

If you give a fossil to the scientists on Cinnabar Island, they'll extract the raw materials to clone either an Omanyte or a Kabuto. The Rock-and-Water-types will evolve, respectively, into Omastar and Kabutops. Either of the rare Pokémon will bring some prehistoric power to your team.

MEDIUM RARE

PORYGON

LAPRAS

AERODACTYL

SNORLAX

SUDOWOODO

R B Y G S

G S

You can acquire several other rare Pokémon by performing specific actions during your travels. Porygon, for example, must be purchased in the Celadon City Game Corner. Snorlax must be awakened with the Poké Flute then captured. You need to squirt Sudowoodo with water.

★ In certain cases, you must use a Water, Fire, Thunder or Leaf Stone to make one Pokémon evolve into another Pokémon. You'll get only one of each of the stones in Gold or Silver, so you'll need to decide which of the evolved Pokémon you want. You can always play the game again if you want two Pokémon that require the same stone.

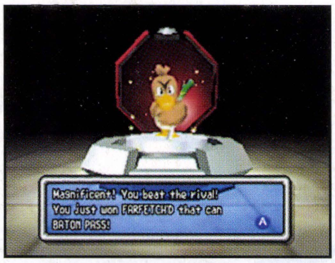
RELEARN A FORGOTTEN TM

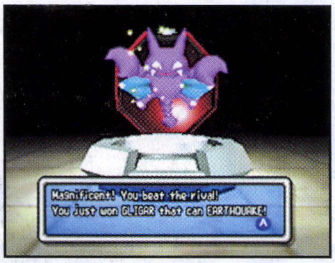
When you finish the Gym Leader Castle, you'll earn the chance for your party members to relearn a move they've forgotten. You can finish the Gym Leader Castle as often as you'd like to give other Pokémon the amazing opportunity.



Magnificent! You beat the rival!
You just won FARFETCHD that can BATON PASS!

BATON PASS FARFETCH'D

After you beat the Rival, you will win a Farfetch'd that can Baton Pass. You can keep the Pokémon present in your Pokémon Stadium 2 Pak, or you can ask Professor Oak to save it to your Gold or Silver game.



Magnificent! You beat the rival!
You just won GLIGAR that can EARTHQUAKE!

EARTHQUAKE GLIGAR

If you manage to beat the Rival in Round 2, you will win a Gligar that knows Earthquake. Go to Professor Oak's Lab to pick up the present, which can be used in battles inside and outside of Pokémon Stadium 2.

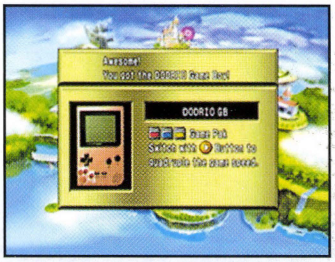
DODUO GB

Finish either the four Cups or Gym leader Castle in Round 1 to win the Doduo Game Boy, which lets you play Red, Blue and Yellow at twice the normal speed. Accomplish either task in Round 2 to win a second Doduo Game Boy, which lets you play Gold and Silver at twice the regular speed.



Awesome!
DODRIO GB

DODRIO GB

Finish the four Cups and Gym Leader Castle in Round 1 to win the Dodrio Game Boy, which lets you play Red, Blue and Yellow at four times the normal speed. Meet the same qualifications in Round 2 to win another Dodrio Game Boy, which lets you play Gold and Silver at three times the normal speed.
